Bain, for the Herald and Morgan for the Tribune pitched league ball. Both had excellent control. Bain struck out the first four men who faced him but costly errors pushed two Tribune men around the bases. Each team netted one run in the second inning, making the score still tied 3-3. At the end of the fourth inning the score stood 6-4 in favor of the If-it-happens bunch. Bain's pitching remained the feature of the game. Somewhere in this part of the proceedings the Herald's stalwarts opened a package of loco seeds and everyone nibbled. A wild throw from field to first and back to third with numerous shoots straight up in the air sent Tribune men chasing each other around the shoots straight up in the air sent Tribune men chasing each other around the course. When the dust died down the score board showed the score to be 9-7 in favor of the Jordanville street crowd. A long hit made by Young at this time filled the Hersid fans with hope and deligt. Ferguson of the Tribune accepted three chances and made good on each one. Crozier, the Tribune's left fielder, made two pretty catches, gluing to high one. Crozier, the Tribune's left fielder, made two pretty catches, gluing to high flies with the sun directly in his eyes. The Tribune boys threatened to quit at several stages of the game, because the unpire Hockerman decided in favor of the Herald in close plays. Local Organization Preparing for the Coming Season.

The Salt Lake Cricket club began to show signs of life in the past week, and is now working on a plan to promote the sport in Salt Lake again this summer. Last year this club brought over the champion team of Colorado and won one game out of the two played.

Secretary J. J. Morris announced last evening that a meeting of the club would be held this evening at Odd Fellows' hall, on Market street, to talk over plans for the season. He says that everybody interested in cricket, whether a member of the club or not, is desired to be present.

This same question was answered in last Sunday's issue of The Herald, but, at the request of the above person, it is answered here again: Call-shot, safety or American pyramid pool is the same game. The rule on the opening shot, according to Brunswick-Balke rules, which are standard, is as follows:

"In the opening stroke the cue ball, aimed direct or as the result of a bank shot, must strike the pyramid with force sufficent to cause at least two object ball to touch a cushion, or at least one object ball to go into a pocket. Failure to do either forfeits the stroke and one ball to the table.
